EVELYN CASTILLO, on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated,

Case No.:

Plaintiff,

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

COCKTAIL BLUE LLC
d/b/a THE BOWERY BALLROOM,

Defendant.

Plaintiff, EVELYN CASTILLO (hereinafter “Plaintiff”), on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated, by and through her undersigned attorney, hereby files this Class Action Complaint against Defendant, COCKTAIL BLUE LLC d/b/a THE BOWERY BALLROOM (hereinafter “Defendant”), and states as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. This class action seeks to put an end to systemic civil rights violations committed by Defendant against people in New York State and across the United States who are disabled due to metabolic disorders that severely constrain their ability to freely consume food¹

¹ Such disorders include diabetes mellitus, diabetes insipidus, glycogen storage disease, very long-chain acyl-CoA dehydrogenase deficiency, long-chain 3-hydroxyacyl-coenzyme A dehydrogenase deficiency, medium-chain acyl-coenzyme A dehydrogenase deficiency, short-chain acyl-CoA dehydrogenase deficiency, and other disorders.

(“metabolically-disabled” or “eating-constrained” individuals). Members of this Class must consume particular types and portions of food to mitigate their disability, and consequently must bring this food with them whenever they go out for an extended period of time, such as to attend an event at a public facility, such as a stadium, arena, theater, performance hall, etc. Defendant is denying disabled individuals throughout the United States equal access to the goods and services that Defendant provides to its customers at The Bowery Ballroom (hereinafter the “Public Facility”) who do not have disabilities causing eating constraints. The Public Facility provides to the public a wide array of the events, goods, services, and other programs offered by Defendant. Yet, Defendant imposes access barriers that make it difficult, if not impossible, for customers who are medically obligated to eat only particular foods to access and enjoy the public accommodations at the Public Facility. Specifically, the Public Facility does not allow outside food, which is an access barrier preventing disabled people with metabolic disorders from being able to access the Public Facility, since this group of people has disabilities that are treated with particular food items. See attached Exhibit A for Defendant’s “No Outside Food” policy.

2. In fact, the access barrier created by Defendant’s “no outside food allowed” policy makes it impossible for users with medical eating constraints to attend events at the Public Facility. Defendant thus excludes people who are disabled due to metabolic disorders from the full and equal participation in the public events at the Public Facility.

3. Plaintiff is disabled due to a metabolic disorder. Specifically, she has been diagnosed with diabetes mellitus. She brings this civil rights class action against Defendant for failing to design, construct, and/or own or operate a Public Facility that is fully accessible to, and independently usable by, eating-constrained people.

4. Plaintiff uses the terms “metabolically-disabled individuals,” “disabled people with metabolic disorders,” and “eating-constrained individuals” to refer to all persons with metabolic impairments who meet the legal definition of disability in that they are limited in a major life activity and these impairments can be partly ameliorated by food or drink. Courts have found that diabetes limits its sufferers’ ability to eat, to think (if the diabetes is untreated by food), or both.²

5. Numerous courts have ruled in accordance with the scientific fact that diabetes mellitus, Plaintiff’s disease, is mitigated by food. The Seventh Circuit provides an apt description of diabetes mellitus in Branham v. Snow, 392 F.3d 896 (7th Cir. 2004):

[The plaintiff] is significantly restricted as to the manner in which he can eat as compared to the average person in the general population. His dietary intake is dictated by his diabetes, and must respond, with significant precision, to the blood sugar readings he takes four times a day. Depending upon the level of his blood sugar, Mr. Branham may have to eat immediately, may have to wait to eat, or may have to eat certain types of food. Even after the mitigating measures of his treatment regimen, he is never free to eat whatever he pleases because he risks both mild and severe bodily reactions if he disregards his blood sugar readings. He must adjust his diet to compensate for any greater exertion, stress, or illness that he experiences.

Branham, 392 F.3d at *903-04.

6. Likewise, in Fraser v. Goodale, 342 F.3d 1032 (9th Cir. 2003), the Ninth Circuit described diabetes’ effect as follows:

[The plaintiff] must always have certain foods available in case her blood sugar drops or skyrockets. She must always be able to take time to eat or give herself injections to balance her blood sugar levels. She cannot put a morsel of food in her mouth without carefully assessing whether it will tip her blood sugars out of Supp. 2d 120, 128 (D.D.C. 2003) (similar); Lawson v. CSX Transp., Inc., 245 F.3d 916, 924–926 (7th Cir. 2001) (diabetes substantially limited eating); *Downs v. Supp. 808, 813–814 (N.D. Tex. 1994) (similar); Erjavac v. Holy Family Health Plus, 13 F. Supp. 2d 737, 746–748 (N.D. Ill. 1998) (eating and waste elimination); *Shirley v. balance. She cannot skip or postpone a snack or meal without cautiously studying her insulin and glucagon levels. She must constantly, faithfully, and precisely monitor her eating, exercise, blood sugar, and other health factors, and even this is no guarantee of success.

Fraser, 342 F.3d at *1039-41.

7. Millions of people in the United States suffer from disabilities that impose eating constraints on them. As of 2015, 30.3 million people in the United States have diabetes³, including approximately 2 million persons in New York State.⁴ Other metabolic diseases affect thousands more people in the United States. Approximately 15,000 Americans suffer from Glycogen-Storage Disease Type 1⁵, 10,000 suffer from diabetes insipidus⁶, and 10,000 suffer from various forms of acyl-coa dehydrogenase deficiency.^{7, 8}

8. Metabolically-disabled people enjoy public events just as other people do. However, the lack of an accessible public facility means that metabolically-disabled people are excluded from accessing events, goods, services, and other programs offered by Defendant at the Public Facility.

9. Making the Public Facility accessible to Plaintiff and the proposed Class would not require Defendant to implement an expensive redesign of the Public Facility. All Defendant must do is stop enforcing its draconian anti-food policy against disabled people who need food to treat their condition. Additionally, allowing outside food into the Public Facility would not present any impractical difficulties. Some similar public facilities, such as Yankee Stadium, allow any customer to bring in outside food and beverages.⁹

10. By failing to make the Public Facility accessible to metabolically-disabled persons, Defendant is violating basic equal access requirements under both state and federal law.

11. Congress provided a clear and national mandate for the elimination of discrimination against individuals with disabilities when it enacted the Americans with Disabilities Act. Such discrimination includes barriers to full integration, independent living, and equal opportunity for persons with disabilities, including those barriers created by Public Facilities and other public accommodations that are inaccessible to those with physical disabilities. Similarly, New York state and local law require places of public accommodation to ensure access to goods, services, and facilities by making reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities.

12. Plaintiff intended to attend Summer StrummerJam NYC in or around August 25, 2018 at the Public Facility. However, she did not book a ticket due to the accessibility barrier of outside food being banned, as Defendant clearly states on its website, <http://www.mercuryeastpresents.com/boweryballroom/faq> (hereinafter the “Website”). See attached Exhibit A. Such barrier poses a significant health risk to Plaintiff and Class members. Unless Defendant remedies this access barrier, Plaintiff and Class members will continue to be unable to attend events at the Public Facility. Plaintiff intends to take advantage of the facilities offered by Defendant in the future, once the access barriers are remedied.

13. This complaint seeks declaratory and injunctive relief to correct Defendant’s policies and practices to include measures necessary to ensure compliance with federal and state law, to include monitoring of such measures, and to update and remove accessibility barriers at the Public Facility created by Defendant's policies so that Plaintiff and the proposed Class of customers who are metabolically-disabled will be able to independently use Defendant's Public Facility. This complaint also seeks compensatory damages to compensate Class members for having been subjected to unlawful discrimination.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

14. Defendant operates the Public Facility located at 6 Delancey Street, New York, NY 10002.

15. Defendant is a for-profit corporation organized under the laws of New York State, with a service of process address at 6 Delancey Street, New York, NY 10002.

16. Venue is proper in the Southern District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b)-(c) and 1441(a).

17. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of this action pursuant to:

- (A) 28 U.S.C. § 1331 and 42 U.S.C. § 12188, for Plaintiff's claims arising under Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12181, et seq., ("ADA"); and
- (B) 28 U.S.C. § 1332, because this is a class action, as defined by 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(1)(B), in which a member of the putative class is a citizen of a different state than Defendant, and the amount in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5,000,000, excluding interest and costs. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2).

18. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367, over Plaintiff's pendent claims under the New York State Human Rights Law, N.Y. Exec. Law, Article 15 (Executive Law § 290 et seq.), and the New York City Human Rights Law, N.Y.C.

Administrative Code § 8-101 et seq. (“City Law”).

PARTIES

19. Plaintiff is and has been at all times material hereto a resident of Brooklyn County, New York. Plaintiff has been diagnosed with diabetes mellitus, making her a member of a protected class under the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12102(1)-(2), the regulations implementing the ADA set forth at 28 CFR § 36.101 et seq., the New York State Human Rights Law, and the New York City Human Rights Law. Plaintiff was first diagnosed with diabetes mellitus and put on a restricted diet in 2006. Plaintiff cannot eat outside of her meal plan, except that she must snack to boost her blood sugar if it gets dangerously low. Plaintiff’s choice of snacks is based upon their individualized meal plan and should be left to their discretion. As a result of her disability, Plaintiff’s blood sugar is unstable and may drop suddenly, which has serious consequences for Plaintiff, particularly if she cannot remedy it by immediately eating an appropriate snack and injecting a correspondingly appropriate amount of insulin. Plaintiff cannot eat sugar, wheat, non-packaged foods of indeterminate calorie amount, or foods that exceed a given meal’s calorie allotment.

20. When she cannot bring her own packaged or pre-measured food to an event, Plaintiff is at risk of both overeating and undereating. When this happens, she is at further risk of either using too much insulin or not enough. In short, the way she treats her disease is to carry specific snacks containing particular amounts of sugar, and to consume those snacks with the appropriate amount of insulin.

21. It is particularly important that Plaintiff use her precise system to manage her blood sugar because symptoms of low blood sugar include weakness, dizziness, and confusion.¹⁰ Hypothetical alternatives, such as standing in line to buy food containing an unknown amount of sugars, are not practical for people with disabilities such as Plaintiff's.

22. Plaintiff has been denied the full enjoyment of the facilities, goods, and services of the Public Facility, as well as to the events, facilities, goods, and services of Defendant, as a result of accessibility barriers of the Public Facility. Most recently in July 2018, Plaintiff intended to buy tickets to attend an event at the Public Facility but did not do so due to the advertised inaccessibility of the Public Facility, i.e. its policy of not allowing outside food. See Exhibit A. The inaccessibility of the Public Facility has deterred Plaintiff and Class members from the enjoyment of the Public Facility. Nonetheless, Plaintiff intends to attend a similar event at the Public Facility as soon as Defendant fixes its discriminatory policies.

23. Defendant owns and operates the Public Facility, which is a place of public accommodation located in New York. Among other things, the Public Facility hosts events open to the public by Defendant, including games, concerts, and other benefits related to these events. The inaccessibility of the Public Facility has deterred Plaintiff from attending events at the Public Facility.

24. Plaintiff, on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated, seeks full and equal access to the goods and services provided by Defendant through the Public Facility.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

25. Plaintiff, on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated, seeks certification of the following nationwide Class pursuant to Rule 23(a) and 23(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure: “all legally metabolically-disabled individuals in the United States who have attempted to access the Public Facility and as a result have been denied access to the enjoyment of goods and services offered in the Public Facility during the relevant statutory period.”

26. Plaintiff seeks certification of the following New York Subclass pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a), 23(b)(2), and, alternatively, 23(b)(3): “all metabolically-disabled individuals in New York State who have attempted to access the Public Facility and as a result have been denied access to the enjoyment of goods and services offered by Defendant during the relevant statutory period.”

27. Millions of people have a physical disability that is partly treatable by diet in the United States, including in New York. Thus, the persons in the Class are so numerous that joinder of all such persons is impractical and the disposition of their claims in a class action is a benefit to the parties and to the Court.

28. This case arises out of Defendant’s policy and practice of maintaining an inaccessible Public Facility, denying metabolically-disabled persons access to the events, goods, and services of the Public Facility and Defendant. Due to Defendant’s policy and practice of imposing access barriers, metabolically-disabled persons have been and are being denied full and equal access to the Public Facility.

29. There are common questions of law and fact common to the class, including without limitation, the following:

- (a) Whether the Public Facility is a “public accommodation” under the ADA;
- (b) Whether the Public Facility is a “place or provider of public accommodation” under the laws of the New York;

- (c) Whether Defendant through the Public Facility denies the full and equal enjoyment of its goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to people with metabolic disabilities in violation of the ADA; and
- (d) Whether Defendant through the Public Facility denies the full and equal enjoyment of its goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to people with metabolic disabilities in violation of the laws of New York.

30. The claims of the named Plaintiff are typical of those of the Class. The Class, similarly to Plaintiff, have metabolic disorders that render them metabolically-disabled, and claim that Defendant has violated the ADA, and/or the laws of New York by imposing access barriers on the Public Facility, such that it is not accessible to the Class of people who are legally disabled due to eating constraints.

31. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the members of the Class because Plaintiff has retained and is represented by counsel competent and experienced in complex class action litigation, and because Plaintiff has no interests antagonistic to the members of the Class. Class certification of the claims is appropriate pursuant to Fed. R. Civ P. 23(b)(2) because Defendant has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the Class, making appropriate both declaratory and injunctive relief with respect to Plaintiff and the Class as a whole.

32. Alternatively, class certification is appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3) because questions of law and fact common to Class members clearly predominate over questions affecting only individual Class members, and because a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this litigation.

33. Judicial economy will be served by maintenance of this lawsuit as a class action in that it is likely to avoid the burden that would be otherwise placed upon the judicial system by the filing of numerous similar suits by people with metabolic disabilities throughout the United States.

34. References to Plaintiff shall be deemed to include the named Plaintiff and each member of the Class, unless otherwise indicated.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

35. Defendant operates the Public Facility located at 6 Delancey Street, New York, NY 10002.

36. The Public Facility is a service and benefit offered by Defendant in New York. The Public Facility is owned, controlled, and/or operated by Defendant. Defendant sells tickets to events at the Public Facility and on their Website, including in New York State.

37. The Public Facility, which is marketed to consumers located in New York State, is a commercial Public Facility that hosts events and sells goods and services.

38. This case arises out of Defendant's policy and practice of denying the metabolically-disabled access to the Public Facility, including the goods and services offered by Defendant through the Public Facility. Due to Defendant's imposition of access barriers to the Public Facility, metabolically-disabled individuals have been and are being denied equal access to the Public Facility, as well as to the numerous goods, services, and benefits offered to the public through the Public Facility.

39. Defendant denies the metabolically-disabled access to goods, services, and information made available through the Public Facility by preventing them from freely entering the Public Facility with the food they need to treat their disability.

40. Allowing disabled people to bring medical supplies into the Public Facility presents no significant obstacles or difficulties for Defendant. Other public facilities allow diabetic individuals to bring insulin supplies onto their premises. However, simply bringing insulin supplies is insufficient because: 1) diabetic individuals need readily available food in case their blood sugar drops, 2) many diabetic individuals (including Plaintiff) need to bring pre-measured food to match their insulin to the quantity of food consumed, and 3) Defendant's policy ignores metabolically-disabled individuals with other disabilities that are treated by food.

41. The Public Facility states clearly on the Website that it does not allow outside food, which constitutes an access barrier that prevents free and full use by Plaintiff and metabolically-disabled persons. See Exhibit A.

42. The Public Facility thus contains access barriers which deny full and equal access to Plaintiff, who would otherwise use the Public Facility and who would otherwise be able to fully and equally enjoy the benefits and services of Defendant.

43. Plaintiff attempted to purchase tickets for Summer StrummerJam NYC at the Public Facility, most recently in July 2018. However, Plaintiff did not purchase tickets because she would have been unable to ultimately access the Public Facility because of the access barrier imposed by Defendant's no outside food policy, as seen on the Website and attached hereto as Exhibit A. These access barriers have caused the Public Facility to be inaccessible to, and not independently usable by, metabolically-disabled individuals.

44. As described above, Plaintiff has actual knowledge of the fact that Defendant's Public Facility contains access barriers causing the Public Facility to be inaccessible to—and not independently usable by—metabolically-disabled individuals.

45. These barriers have denied Plaintiff full and equal access to, and enjoyment of, the goods, benefits, and services of the Public Facility and Defendant. Plaintiff did not attempt to attend an event at the Public Facility because she understood Defendant's discriminatory policy and knew that such an attempt would be futile. The ADA explicitly does not require "a person with a disability to engage in a futile gesture if such person has actual notice that a person or organization . . . does not intend to comply [with Title III of the ADA]." 42 U.S.C. § 12188(a)(2)). This is particularly true for Plaintiff, for whom going out in public without available snacks would be a health risk. Disabled Ams. for Equal Access, Inc. v. Ferries del Caribe, Inc., 405 F.3d 60, 65 n.7 (1st Cir. 2005).

46. Plaintiff was injured by her loss of opportunity to enjoy the Public Facility. The ADA "expressly contemplates loss of opportunity as an actionable injury." Betancourt v. Federated Dep't Stores, 732 F. Supp. 2d 693, 707 (W.D. Tex. 2010) (citing 42 U.S.C. § 12182(a), (b)). Defendant engaged in acts of intentional discrimination, including but not limited to the following policies or practices:

- (a) constructing and maintaining a Public Facility that is inaccessible to metabolically-disabled class members with knowledge of the discrimination; and/or
- (b) constructing and maintaining a Public Facility that is sufficiently intuitively and/or obviously inaccessible to metabolically-disabled Class members; and/or

- (c) failing to take actions to correct these access barriers in the face of substantial harm and discrimination to metabolically-disabled Class members.

47. Defendant utilizes standards, criteria, or methods of administration that have the effect of discriminating or perpetuating the discrimination of others.

48. Plaintiff and the Class are disabled for purposes of the ADA. 42 U.S.C.S. § 12102 reads in pertinent part:

- (1) Disability. The term “disability” means, with respect to an individual—
 - (A) a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of such individual;
- (2) Major life activities.
 - (A) In general. For purposes of paragraph (1), major life activities include, but are not limited to . . . eating

49. Accordingly, courts have interpreted diseases such as food disorders and diabetes as disabilities because those diseases interfere with eating.

50. Even before the ADA was amended in 2008 to explicitly include “eating” as a “major life activity,” courts interpreting the ADA considered eating to be a major life activity. Recent decisions also hold that diabetes is a disability covered by the ADA. 42 U.S.C.S. § 12102 codifies this law because diabetes limits the major life activity of eating. See, e.g., Kells v. Sinclair Buick--GMC Truck, Inc., 210 F.3d 827, 830–831 (8th Cir. 2000) (noting that diabetes is a “recognized ADA impairment[.]”); Lee v. District of Columbia, 920 F. Supp. 2d 127, 135 (D.D.C. 2013) (“A reasonable jury could therefore find that Mr. Lee was disabled within the meaning of the Americans with Disabilities Act.”); Girten v. Town of Schererville, 819 F. Supp. 2d 786, 798 (N.D. Ind. 2011) (“Without question, Girten’s diabetes is quite serious and a jury could reasonably find that Girten’s condition substantially limits the major life activity of eating.”); Nawrot v. CPC Intern., 277 F.3d 896, 904–905 (7th Cir. 2002) (diabetes affected ability to think and perform tasks); Bugg-Barber v. Randstad US, L.P., 271 F. Supp. 2d 120, 128 (D.D.C. 2003) (similar); Lawson v. CSX Transp., Inc., 245 F.3d 916, 924–926 (7th Cir. 2001) (diabetes substantially limited eating); Downs v. AOL Time Warner, Inc., No. 2:03-CV-1117, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4848, at *5 (S.D. Ohio Jan. 20, 2006) (similar); U.S. v. Mississippi Dept. of Public Safety, 309 F. Supp. 2d 837, 840 (S.D. Miss. 2004) (similar); Gonsalves v. J.F. Fredericks Tool Co., Inc., 964 F. Supp. 616, 621 (D. Conn. 1997) (diabetes affected eating and sleeping); Coghlan v. H.J. Heinz Co., 851 F. Supp. 808, 813–814 (N.D. Tex. 1994) (similar); Erjavac v. Holy Family Health Plus, 13 F. Supp. 2d 737, 746–748 (N.D. Ill. 1998) (eating and waste elimination); Shirley v. Westgate Fabrics, Civil Action No. 3:95-CV-2550-D, 1997 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16545, at *3 (N.D. Tex. Mar. 17, 1997) (similar).

51. Even episodic disabilities less severe than Plaintiff’s disease would qualify for protection under Title III. Service v. Union Pacific R.R. Co., 153 F. Supp. 2d 1187, 1192 (E.D. Cal. 2001) (“Plaintiff need not be in a constant state of distress or suffer an asthmatic attack to qualify as disabled under the ADA.”). Plaintiff’s disease is severe enough to decisively limit her major life activity of eating.

CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

(Violation of 42 U.S.C. § 12181, et seq.—Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act)
(on behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

52. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference the foregoing allegations as if set forth fully herein.

53. Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, 42 U.S.C. § 12182(a), provides that “No individual shall be discriminated against on the basis of disability in the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations of any place of public accommodation by any person who owns, leases (or leases to), or operates a place of public accommodation.” Title III also prohibits an entity from “[u]tilizing standards or criteria or methods of administration that have the effect of discriminating on the basis of disability.” 42 U.S.C. § 12181(b)(2)(D)(I).

54. The Public Facility, located in New York, is a public accommodation within the definition of 42 U.S.C. § 12181(7)(C) because it is “a motion picture house, theater, concert hall, stadium, or other place of exhibition or entertainment.” (emphasis added).

55. Defendant is subject to Title III of the ADA because it owns and operates the Public Facility.

56. Under Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(1)(A)(I), it is unlawful discrimination to deny individuals with disabilities or a class of individuals with disabilities the opportunity to participate in or benefit from the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations of an entity.

57. Under Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(1)(A)(II), it is unlawful discrimination to deny individuals with disabilities or a class of individuals with disabilities an opportunity to participate in or benefit from the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodation, which is equal to the opportunities afforded to other individuals.

58. Specifically, under Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(2)(A)(II), unlawful discrimination includes, among other things, “a failure to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures, when such modifications are necessary to afford such goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to individuals with disabilities, unless the entity can demonstrate that making such modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of such goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages or accommodations.”

59. In addition, under Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(2)(A)(III), unlawful discrimination also includes, among other things, “a failure to take such steps as may be necessary to ensure that no individual with a disability is excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently than other individuals because of the absence of auxiliary aids and services, unless the entity can demonstrate that taking such steps would fundamentally alter the nature of the good, service, facility, privilege, advantage, or accommodation being offered or would result in an undue burden.”

60. Many public facilities allow outside food into their venues (as required under the ADA). The policy of allowing outside food does not unduly burden those venues. Plaintiff and the Class merely seek to bring into the Public Facility the food they need for medical reasons. This would not disrupt the Public Facility’s operations.

61. The acts alleged herein constitute violations of Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq., and the regulations promulgated thereunder. Patrons of Defendant who are metabolically-disabled have been denied full and equal access to the Public Facility, have not been provided services that are provided to other patrons who are not disabled, and/or have been provided services that are inferior to the services provided to non-disabled patrons.

62. Defendant has failed to take any prompt and equitable steps to remedy its discriminatory conduct. These violations are ongoing.

63. regulations.

64. Unless the Court enjoins Defendant from continuing to engage in these unlawful practices, Plaintiff and members of the proposed Class and Subclass will continue to suffer irreparable harm.

65. The actions of Defendant were and are in violation of the ADA and therefore Plaintiff invokes her statutory right to injunctive relief to remedy the discrimination.

67. Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12188 and the remedies, procedures, and rights set forth and incorporated therein Plaintiff prays for judgment as set forth below.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

(Violation of New York State Human Rights Law, N.Y. Exec. Law, Article 15 (Executive Law § 292 et seq.)
(on behalf of Plaintiff and New York Subclass)

68. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference the foregoing allegations as though fully set forth herein.

69. N.Y. Exec. Law § 296(2)(a) provides that it is “an unlawful discriminatory practice for any person, being the owner, lessee, proprietor, manager, superintendent, agent or employee of any place of public accommodation . . . because of the . . . disability of any person, directly or indirectly, to refuse, withhold from or deny to such person any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities or privileges thereof.”

70. The Public Facility, located in New York State, is a sales establishment and public accommodation within the definition of N.Y. Exec. Law § 292(9). The Public Facility is a service, privilege, or advantage of Defendant. Food at the Public Facility is sold by, and integrated with, the Public Facility.

71. Defendant is subject to the New York Human Rights Law because it owns and operates the Public Facility. Defendant is a person within the meaning of N.Y. Exec. Law § 292(1).

72. Defendant is violating N.Y. Exec. Law § 296(2)(a) in imposing access barriers to the Public Facility, causing the Public Facility and the services integrated with the Public Facility to be completely inaccessible to the metabolically-disabled. This inaccessibility denies metabolically-disabled patrons full and equal access to the facilities, goods, and services that Defendant makes available to the non-disabled public.

73. Specifically, under N.Y. Exec. Law § 296(2)(c)(I), unlawful discriminatory practice includes, among other things, “a refusal to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures, when such modifications are necessary to afford facilities, privileges, advantages or accommodations to individuals with disabilities, unless such person can demonstrate that making such modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of such facilities, privileges, advantages or accommodations.”

74. In addition, under N.Y. Exec. Law § 296(2)(c)(II), unlawful discriminatory practice also includes, “a refusal to take such steps as may be necessary to ensure that no individual with a disability is excluded or denied services because of the absence of auxiliary aids and services, unless such person can demonstrate that taking such steps would fundamentally alter the nature of the facility, privilege, advantage or accommodation being offered or would result in an undue burden.”

75. To make the Public Facility accessible to the metabolically-disabled, Defendant need only cease its existing policy. Making the Public Facility accessible by allowing people to bring in food would not alter the nature of Defendant’s business nor result in an undue burden to Defendant.

76. Defendant’s actions constitute willful intentional discrimination against the Subclass on the basis of a disability in violation of the New York State Human Rights Law, N.Y. Exc. Law § 296(2) in that Defendant has:

- (a) constructed and maintained a Public Facility that is inaccessible to metabolically-disabled Subclass members with knowledge of the discrimination; and/or
- (b) constructed and maintained a Public Facility that is sufficiently intuitive and/or obvious that is inaccessible to metabolically-disabled Subclass members; and/or
- (c) failed to take actions to correct these access barriers in the face of substantial harm and discrimination to metabolically-disabled Subclass members.

77. Defendant has failed to take any prompt and equitable steps to remedy its discriminatory conduct. These violations are ongoing.

78. As such, Defendant discriminates, and will continue in the future to discriminate against Plaintiff and members of the proposed Subclass on the basis of disability in the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, accommodations, and/or opportunities of the Public Facility and Defendant under § 296(2) et seq. and/or its implementing regulations. Unless the Court enjoins Defendant from continuing to engage in these unlawful practices, Plaintiff and members of the Subclass will continue to suffer irreparable harm.

79. The actions of Defendant were and are in violation of New York State Human Rights Law and therefore Plaintiff invokes her right to injunctive relief to remedy the discrimination.

80. Plaintiff is also entitled to compensatory damages, as well as civil penalties and fines pursuant to N.Y. Exc. Law § 297(4)(c) et seq. for each and every offense.

81. Plaintiff is also entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

82. Pursuant to N.Y. Exec. Law § 297 and the remedies, procedures, and rights set forth and incorporated therein Plaintiff prays for judgment as set forth below.
